“ She was always doing all she could to make everyone around her happy. She was very talented in the various art she created. She once painted me a picture of my favorite place to go sit and meditate when I was younger and gave it to me for Christmas. She also painted my childhood dresser with a meadow scene in which she was sure to include a castle that had my daughter's initials in the flags on all the towers and a stream running along from one side to the other as well as her very own one of a kind "Road to nowhere". She is very missed and ever so loved by many, many ppl. I love you mom and can't wait till I join you in heaven. Till then, watch over us all.
