“ My little 3 yr old grandson, Caleb got to know "Charlie" when I would bring him with me for piano lessons with June. After meeting and playing trains with Charlie just once, little Caleb wanted come with me every time so he could "play with his friend Charlie". Charles took time out of his day to lay on the floor with my grandson and play trains! Little children have a special insight into people and can sense when someone is real. The short time I knew Charles, I knew he was a real and caring person. He will be missed.
