“ Alex seemed like he wanted to be happy. When he was at church, often I teased him and gave him a what for like a big sis or aunt would do. When he was baptized, it was such a great thing. So, we know that he was heaven bound. I only wish that he could have hung in there. We began missing him at church. Him and his kids. Life hands us things we cannot always comprehend. But if we continue to pray, and ask God for help and for forgiveness of our thoughts and actions, he hears us. Nobody ever said life was easy. And they never can prepare you for when a loved one is taken. I know he was very saddened by his mothers death. And now, his kids will be saddened by his.

He had a great smile. I wish I had known him better. But as a christian, we all are to love one another. And Alex was loved by all of the people at Flack. He may have not felt strength enough in that, but he was loved just the same. He will truly be missed.

My prayers go out to all of his family. Remember, we are never alone when we have God in our life.
