“ Jay and I grew up across the street from another on Fairway Drive. I diidnt see him much until high school. My mother, a teacher at Park Hill, used to yell at me every morning to get the heck up. She started threatening that she would jyst leave next with no way to get to school. Oh no! I rode with Jay, once he got a car. And let me tell you it was a sad car. Push button gears, very temperamental on cold days, etc. somehow he always got that thing started and off we'd go. I will always love him for that. He was very kind and I had the opportunity to connect with him again in this past year or two. I'm thankful for that. He was a good man who deeply loved his family and significant other. I feel like I just got back in touch with him and can't believe he's gone. May he find peace and healing.
