

Lisa Marie Macon

February 19, 1988 - April 6, 2018

Lisa Marie Macon, born February 19, 1988 in Ft. McClellan, Alabama passed away April 6, 2018 in Kansas City, MO in the company of her family.

Lisa was preceded in death by her paternal grandmother, Dean Hinkle, and her maternal grandfather, Bill Hurlbutt.

Lisa is survived by her maternal grandmother, Vicki Hurlbutt, her sisters, Nicole and Tori Macon, and her parents Roger and Terri Macon.

There is not enough time to really say just how much Lisa meant to any person who met her. Lisa was the most kind and fiercely loving person in the world. There was not a room she couldn't light up with her smile and laughter. I'm not sure she ever knew just how beautiful she was, from the depths of her heart to the top of her head - but there's not a person who knew her who would say otherwise! Lisa was an eternal lover of books, science, and her cat Paw-Revere. There was not a single thing in this world she didn't want to study or learn about. The only thing she might have loved more than that is her family and friends. Lisa was the greatest cheerleader and confidante to her younger sisters Nicole and Tori. She was the first bundle of joy to her parents and grandparents. She was a stupendously loyal friend. She was selfless, kind, generous, and taught the world what it meant to be a truly good and pure person. It's hard to imagine a world without Lisa in it - but we know she'll continue to move mountains, where she's no longer suffering and can be at peace.

“ I am so terribly saddened to hear of Lisa's passing. I was fortunate to coach her in soccer at Waynesville High School. She always worked hard, but knew we were all there ultimately to have fun. I remember well her smile and cheerful attitude. My prayers are with you as I personally understand your loss. Nelson Morgan
