“ Uncle came over one day with somethings on his mind, so we sat and talked for hours about life. About a week later I found a bag on my patio that had a book and a card in it. It was from Uncle. I still have these today;) He always seemed to know when I needed a little uplift , at very random times he would leave a card or note or a flower with a note for me to find;)

“ I remember one Halloween dad sent us outside to pick our toys and put them in our play house, which was WAY at the back end of the yard mind you. It was dark and we couldnt have been but 9 or 10. Scared anyway...i wont be a sun of a gun if from around the front of the house came this god awful growling noise...my dad all dressed up with pantyhose over his head a yard stick he was tapping as he came around the side of the house moaning and growling...all three of us... Me, Kim, and Anthony dropped everything we had and hauled butt towards the house....scared for our lives fighting each other as we were running towards the house trying to make sure we were the one who made it in the house alive lmao....mom said if you could of seen our faces...she said she had to open the sliding glass door as we were all about to run right through it....Dad was always big on Halloween...always setting something scary up on our bed..hanging in our closets...bet that was why Anthony loved Halloween, dad always had something up his sleeve...im sure i was the first in the door lol...Love you big brother...hard to accept your not here anymore. Sleep with the Angels....I LOVE YOU SO VERY MUCH.....RIP Anthony....xoxo

I met you on my 16th birthday, we partied all night long. I hardly knew you but at one point placed my head in your lap. You just let me stay there and fall asleep. Who knew that a couple months later we would be living together and dreaming of a bigger life together. You were my first true love and I always wished I could do more for you. Rest in peace dear man. You meant everything to me. I love you then and now. Always forever. JCF

Beloved Friend I met you a long time ago back when we both were teens. You taught me it was ok to show my love of nature and animals to the world. Not a day goes by that I did not think of you. I was happy to reconnect a couple years ago and get the chance to say goodbye. You are in a happier place now and I will miss you deeply. Blessed Be my friend.
